

Bluecard

Avoid OH&S incidents and show your future employer that you have the skills

Pentrans Consulting is working constructively with the transport industry to improve safety and skills development in this important sector.

Why should you get a Bluecard?

- Identifies that you can apply OHS procedures in the work place.
- Preferred prerequisite by many national transport companies.
- Recognises that you have achieved a national unit of competence, or qualification.
- It's a national card. The same employment options are available to you in all states.
